THE RULE OF TABOO

This complex civilization and heralded culture occasionally must stagger under man's admission that the howling savage at times solved his problems with greater ease. Savages were ruled by the taboo and the law of the taboo was not to be violated.

Modern human beings are creatures in a culture that never has learned how to impress its members with "musts" and "must nots."

Children refer to teachers as "sour pussies," "old goats" and "heels," without a word of admiration from their parents. Too many are sent to school with orders to go because they have to go, and without explanation that school is maintained for the child's benefit.

Children are permitted to be cop-haters, with parents neglecting to explain that police have a place in the scheme of modern life. Few parents bother to explain destruction of property comes out of the family purse—through taxes.

Borrowing again from the savage, it must be remembered that one thing he hated was cowardice.
Not one of the young vandals who frequently run afoul of the law by destroying public or private property probably has ever been told that such an act is the act of a coward. They think it is an act of boldness because they have never been told differently.

THIS SUMMER

Instability of the weather has turned this into a hectic summer for those engaged in catering to vacationists, as well as for farmers. Crops generally are good, but harvests have been delayed and localized freaks of weather have completely ruined crops here and there after farmers had practically counted the proceeds.

Tourists are out in greater force than last year, but the increase in numbers at key points is not as great as had been predicted. Those who cater to tourists say that never before was business so unpredictable. Managers of tourist courts, hotels and what have you, swamped with business one week, would take a breath and lay in supplies for the hordes that were expected the following week, when a meteorological freak would set in and business was again in the doldrums.

And such griping by the customers. It seems that wherever they go, they always get there on days when everything is filled up, or on days when they weren't expecting anyone and so were not prepared. The tourist of today, when he hits the open road, wants to experience the wide open spaces in all their ruggedness, but he wants all the conveniences and comforts of home, and more.

Many who rushed into various endeavors connected with catering to tourists after the war, en-visioning quick riches, have become disillusioned. Their universal complaint is that they cannot give the customers what they want for what they want to pay and make money.

Against The Grain

trying to elect a Congressman to represent the CIO labor bosses instead of the men and women of this district?
Their concepts are those of the "new order"—of COM-MUNISM, STATE-SOCIALISM AND DICTATORSHIP.
Back of these invaders is the philosophy which in Russia has reduced two hundred million souls to being slaves of their own government.

Back of them are the mad dreams of Hitler and Mussolini which plunged Europe and the World into the recent disastrous war.

Back of them are the hairbrained schemes which, tried out in England, have brought the British Empire nearer to collapse and disaster than did the War itself.

Back of them are ideas which have produced only ruin and desolation and serfdom wherever applied.

No greater contrast can be made than between the theories of these new "social planners" and the principles set forth and followed by William Penn.

The essence of Penn's faith was that all men are brothers, and that application of the Golden Rule would build peace, good order and progress. He applied that belief to the Indian Problem, and it kept the peace with the Indians for generations —until the faith was broken.

Instead of brotherhood and tolerance, these disciples of Marx and Lenin preach strife and discord; their hymns of hate sing of class strife and social upheaval.

William Penn did more to impress the concepts of "due process of law" and jury trials upon the American nation than any other one man. The safeguards written into the Bill of Rights are identical, save for the actual wording, with those which Penn set forth more than a century earlier.

Where do the new-order groups stand on due process and jury trials? They believe in dictatorship; they believe that these functions have been improperly lodged in the judiciary under the American plan, and that they, like legislative powers, should all be turned over to the executive. Already Uncle Sam has made great strides to carry out this Communistic objective.

The doctrine of religious liberty was perhaps the most famous of Penn's beliefs. But the Communistic ideology has no room for religion. It teaches that the State—and the dictator who would rule it—are the only proper objects of veneration; and that an individual has no more right to freedom of opinions in the field of religion than he has in politics, or any other human affairs.
Their motto is: "Leave the thinking to the bureaucrats!"

Never before Penn had the sanctity of human life been so highly respected. He reduced the number of capital crimes to two—murder and treason. Life is cheap to the Communists—one life, or a million, is nothing compared to what the bureaucrats decree is the "welfare" of the State. What is one life worth to those who saw nothing more than justifiable administrative tactics, when, for instance, the Bolsheviks starved six million farmers in the Crimea communizing agriculture there?

Penn fathered the American concept of free elections. He introduced secret ballots, and enacted laws to prohibit any form of corrupt solicitation in connection with campaigns. The methods of the CIO campaigners in this District are even more flatly contrary to the laws of William Penn's time than they are in defiance of the Smith-Connelly and Taft-Hartley Federal statutes of today.

Penn would turn over in his grave at the idea of money raised for union activities in Pittsburgh, and Detroit, and other outside industrial areas, being diverted into this district in an effort to "buy" the Congressional election here!

Fundamental in the beliefs of William Penn was the idea that rule by law was the road to freedom, and rule by men the road to slavery.

Respect for law and for the agencies of law enforcement is inherent to such a belief. So is the concept that, for the preservation of law and order, it is the duty of all men to try to obey the laws as written—and if they disagree with these laws, instead of defying them, to seek their amendment by the orderly processes of representative government.

This concept of William Penn is set at wholesale defiance by the campaign being conducted in this district on behalf of the CIO candidate. That campaign is an open, flagrant, willful and boasted defiance of the laws—it is a deliberate attempt to smash down a law aimed at returning the labor unions to the membership, simply because the labor bosses don't like it!

WHERE DO YOU STAND IN THIS FIGHT?

Are you proud of the heritage of freedom and self-reliance of this area? Does your blood stir faster to think of the days when William Penn, his feet on Bucks County soil, brought the concepts of good-will, justice and democracy to the infant American nation?

Do you believe that these traditions, which are the warp and woof out of which both the American Constitution and the American Flag were woven, ought to be protected, maintained and defended from all invaders?

Or are you ready to scrap them and elect a man whose whole campaign is a studied effort to hold these venerable concepts up to ridicule and contempt?

Good
Telephone Service depends on Good People

MORE THAN 7,000 MEN AND WOMEN—one out of every four whom we employ—have been with this company for 20 years or more . . . and this fact alone contributes enormously to good telephone service at low cost.
Without a steadfast, experienced, skilled, and dependable operating force, good telephone service simply wouldn't exist ... and without supervisors who have worked their way up from the ranks, the hundreds of central offices throughout the State simply couldn't be kept running smoothly, 24 hours a day.
Length of service is typical of telephone careers. It is also vital to telephone service, for good telephone service depends on capable men and women who are well trained and experienced in their jobs.

Recordings Made By Group Heard After A "Sing"

At the neighborhood "sing," Sunday evening, which was held on the lawn of No. 4 Fleetwing Drive, Mr. and Mrs. R. John LaBrie served as host and hostess.

Song sheets, which had been made up embodying most of the familiar melodies sung at previous gatherings, were presented to the singers. Among the hymns, the group sang Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer" and harmonized on "In the Garden" and other favorites.

At the conclusion of the singing, the group was invited inside to hear two recordings of popular songs, which had been made by Mr. and Mrs. LaBrie, Lawrence Harrison, Jr., and Mrs. Leroy Swan and William Dahl.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Herbert Leswing, Jr., Rector, Church of the Redeemer, (Episcopal), Andalusia.

O gracious Lord, who hast set for us a mighty example in the person of Thy Son, guide us firmly with Thy right hand. Help us to be chaste, sober, and temperate, and keep us from evil speaking, lying, and slandering. Grant to us strength to live in righteousness, knowing Thee to be the source of all that is to be commended, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

FUR WORKERS WIN OVER "BADES" BY SCORE OF 3 TO 1

Victors Determined To Get Out of Cellar of The League

KENNEDY ON MOUND

Win Puts Fur Workers One Game Behind Soby Post

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 12.—Determined to vacate the cellar of the Bristol Suburban League, the Fur Workers played good ball last evening as they registered a 3-1 victory over the Badenhausen team on the Bensalem school field.

"Jack" Kennedy performed a fine pitching exhibition as he held the Badenhausen batters to six hits. He was aided by two beautiful catches by Jim Kelly. Kelly's catches robbed both Jack Hansen and Jack Haines of base hits. His catch of Hansen's fly came with two runners on base.

"Hughie" Deans pitched six innings for Badenhausen and gave way to Pinchhitter "Walt" Hauser in the sixth. Paul Leighton finished. Deans gave up eight hits.

The victory put the Fur Workers one game behind the Soby Post team.

DEMOCRAT CLUB DEFEATS SOBY POST

LANGHORNE, Aug. 13.—The Democrat Club leaped into third place in the second division of the Bristol Suburban League by nosing out the Soby Post team, 4-3, last evening on Playwick field. The win put the Democrats in a fine position to get a playoff spot as they receive a forfeit game from the Bristol Legion tomorrow night.

Angelo Sallustio was the winning teamman while the defeated hurler was Reese. Both boys allowed five hits.

The Soby Post team scored a pair of runs in the first to take the lead without the benefit of a base hit. The tallies were scored on three errors, a walk and sacrifice. The third Soby Post run was a long home run drive by "Pete" Everitt.

The Democrat Club scored a trio of markers in the third when Parcell and Sallustio were given walks and both scored on a beat out hunt by Fields and an error. Fields went around to third on the play and scored on Keyes' tap to Reese.

The winning run crossed in the fifth on a single by Ray Pierandozzi, a stolen base, and hit by Keyes.

ST. ANN'S COACH ISSUES PLAYER CALL

Coach "Mike" DeRisi, of the St. Ann's A. A. football team has issued a call for a meeting of football candidates, this evening, at 8:30 o'clock in the St. Ann's club-house. DeRisi will be assisted in his coaching duties by Joseph "Chick" Claletta.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize the team for the 1947 season and also for the purpose of knowing the candidates for insurance which will protect the players in the event of injuries.

The "Saints" have been placed in the eastern division of the North-east Football Conference along with such teams as Tacony, Holmesburg, Diston, Bridesburg, and Unruh. The "Saints" lost one game last season being beaten by Bridesburg in the semi-finals of the tournament.

The St. Ann's management has also announced that the Purple and Gold have an independent game scheduled to be played in Baltimore.

Within a week, Coach DeRisi intends to call the initial football practice and all indications point to the season opening early in September.

The Franklin A. C. will play West Bristol this evening on the Leedom field beginning at six o'clock.

New Horizons

Thousands of eager-eyed young people, who poured from America's universities last June, now are taking their first steps along the pathway to the future.

What will tomorrow hold for them? Is it true, as some say, that all frontiers have been explored and opportunity now is a shrinking violet?

We, of Philadelphia Electric, join with other privately-owned, business-managed electric companies in answering with an emphatic NO.

The same talent for research, the same urge for progress that have cut the cost of electricity nearly in half during the past fifteen years—and, at the same time, provided the power needed to be twice as useful, now are at work making it possible for electricity to serve still more people in still more ways.

No, there is no letup in P.E.'s forward strides toward better living and bigger opportunities.
